Customised CRM

Abdul Majid is a Director at Westwood, “As part of our customised CRM solution, Westwood makes use of the TextAnywhere Web Service which allows the sending and receiving of SMS messages. This innovative, timesaving solution is available to CRM users within their office premises and is also available to remote workers making use of the CRM online facility in the UK.”

SMS Communication Channel

Abdul added, “We have been able to sell our SMS solution as a business add-on to those clients who wish to use the SMS channel as a means of communicating with their customers. This has resulted in a new income stream for Westwood Software.”

Tech Support

Abdul revealed, “We received excellent technical support from the TextAnywhere technical team and have found the company to be very responsive when it comes to service or technical queries.”

No Software Required

Westwood customers can also make use of the TextAnywhere TextOnline facility which operates through the TextAnywhere SMS gateway and enables users to send SMS messages to mobile contacts anywhere in the world and receive replies by return. With organisation and personal address books available to each user, or integration with modern CRM packages, sending single or multiple messages is simplicity itself.

Westwood integrates the SMS facility into Microsoft Dynamics CRM. Through the provision of a comprehensive online administration and management dashboard, the TextOnline facility is a user and administrator’s dream.
